

"And the point is, to live everything. Live the questions now. Perhaps you will then gradually, without noticing it, live along some distant day into the answer." - Rainer Maria Rilke

What other questions come up for you?

How do we know if we're doing a good enough job?

What are the frames through which we construct our ideas of success?

How do we measure success?

What do they say about what our needs are?

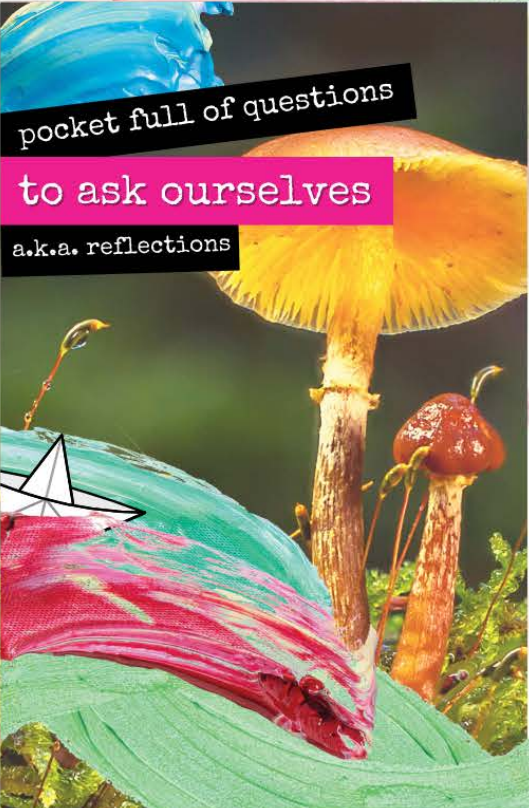

What assumptions do we have about what our work is?

pocket full of questions

to ask ourselves

a.k.a. reflections

What nourishes your skills to ride the waves of uncertainties?

How do we define skillfulness?

Is it a lack of skills, or a lack of experience?

What do you need to go with the flow, or to stand your ground?

How do our values and passions relate to our skillfulness, how do they shape our skills?

What supports you to decide which way to go?
